Abstracts

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Wholesale Colocation market size was valued at US$ 15230 million in 2024 and is forecast to a readjusted size of USD 22580 million by 2031 with a CAGR of 5.9% during review period.

In some cases, a company's requirements may be more stable ? for example, if it plans to store large volumes of data and run core business applications in the same location for the next ten years. In this scenario, a wholesale colocation approach might work better as it can provide more control at an optimal cost.

Intended for larger organizations with extensive IT requirements, wholesale colocation is a more flexible approach that provides customers with more options over their deployment. Rather than leasing individual rackspace or small to modest sized cage space, the typical wholesale colocation customer leases a large space within the data center where they can deploy their IT equipment. This larger space can consist of anything from a locking dedicated cage to private suite, or even a completely new facility that's custom-built for the customer's needs.
