Cholesteryl Ester Transfer Protein (Lipid Transfer Protein I or CETP) - Pipeline Review, H2 2018

SUMMARY

Cholesteryl Ester Transfer Protein (Lipid Transfer Protein I or CETP) - Cholesteryl ester transfer protein (CETP), also called plasma lipid transfer protein is a plasma protein that promotes the transfer of cholesteryl esters from anti-atherogenic HDLs to proatherogenic apolipoprotein B (apoB)-containing lipoproteins, including VLDLs, VLDL remnants, IDLs, and LDLs. A deficiency of CETP is associated with increased HDL levels and decreased LDL levels, a profile that is typically anti-atherogenic.

Cholesteryl Ester Transfer Protein (Lipid Transfer Protein I or CETP) pipeline Target constitutes close to 7 molecules. Out of which approximately 5 molecules are developed by companies and remaining by the universities/institutes. The molecules developed by companies in Phase III, Phase II, Phase I, Preclinical and Discovery stages are 1, 1, 1, 1 and 1 respectively. Similarly, the universities portfolio in Preclinical stages comprises 2 molecules, respectively. Report covers products from therapy areas Metabolic Disorders, Cardiovascular and Oncology which include indications Dyslipidemia, Acute Coronary Syndrome, Cardiovascular Disease, Coronary Disease and Hyperlipidemia.

The latest report Cholesteryl Ester Transfer Protein - Pipeline Review, H2 2018, outlays comprehensive information on the Cholesteryl Ester Transfer Protein (Lipid Transfer Protein I or CETP) targeted therapeutics, complete with analysis by indications, stage of development, mechanism of action (MoA), route of administration (RoA) and molecule type. It also reviews key players involved in Cholesteryl Ester Transfer Protein (Lipid Transfer Protein I or CETP) targeted therapeutics development with respective active and dormant or discontinued projects.

The report is built using data and information sourced from proprietary databases, company/university websites, clinical trial registries, conferences, SEC filings, investor presentations and featured press releases from company/university sites and industry-specific third party sources.

Note: Certain content/sections in the pipeline guide may be removed or altered based on the availability and relevance of data.
