About

Global demand for lead is forecast to expand 6.7% p.a. between 2014 and 2018. Ireland, Lithuania, South Korea, Turkey and the United States are considered the highest potential markets in the coming years.

According to recently published research conducted by a leading international market research company, Global Research & Data Services, the expansion of the global lead industry is forecast to reach 6.7% p.a. in the coming years. Between 2007 and 2013 the market decreased with an average annual decline of -1.2%. Currently, unwrought lead accounts for 89.7% of the global demand while the remaining market share is divided between lead sheets and plates (6.7%), lead wire, profiles, bars and rods (2.0%), lead foil (1.1%), lead flakes and powders (0.3%), and lead pipes, tubes and fittings (0.1%).

China, India, South Korea, the United Kingdom and the United States represent the largest lead markets while the strongest annual growth is forecast to occur in Lithuania (23.3%), Ireland (23.2%), Turkey (18.8%), Austria (17.3%) and Poland (17.1%).

Based on in-house analysis and an advanced model which takes into consideration the actual market size, trends, forecast market growth, and changes in the market environment, Global Research and Data Services calculates the Market Potential Rates, the predicted market potential of the country in the coming years. The larger the Market Potential Rate, the more potential the market has in the coming years; and conversely, the smaller the rate, the less potential the market is considered to have in the future.

The market information is based on new industry data reports recently published by Global Research & Data Services. The reports offer the most up-to-date market data on the actual market situation, trends, and future outlook for lead in the world and individually for the following countries:
