Abstracts

Garment and textile suppliers in India are exploring ways to prop up foreign revenue after exports in the 2012- 2013 fiscal year dropped significantly because of unsteady sales in traditional markets.

Manufacturers are establishing business ties with buyers from alternative destinations such as the Middle East, Latin America and Africa to compensate for the decline. Aside from incorporating innovative materials, makers are improving design and construction to enhance viability.

India's advantage of having a steady source of natural and synthetic fibers is expected to boost the industry's competitiveness. The large presence of artisans and robust OEM capability are attracting more clients to partner with local enterprises. Ample support from the government and trade associations is seen to help the sector post strong performance in the coming years.

This report focuses on the main types of garments and textiles – casual wear, formal wear, baby & children's wear, underwear & sleepwear, and textiles.
