Coconut Milk Powder Market Growth & Trends

The global coconut milk powder market size is expected to reach USD 113.0 million by 2027 registering a CAGR of 10.1%, according to a new report by Grand View Research, Inc. Rising demand for vegan milk products across the globe, due to increasing concerns related to lactose intolerance, is expected to play a key role in the market growth. Furthermore, increasing demand for food items with higher shelf-life is projected to boost the consumption of coconut milk powder.

The demand for plant-based milk powders is expected to grow due to rapid adoption of veganism owing the numerous health benefits associated with it. Furthermore, people have become more conscious about reducing carbon footprint and thus, are opting for plant-based products.

In addition, increasing cases of allergy and intolerance pertaining to dairy products and its derivatives are likely to fuel the demand for plant-based milk powders. Further, according to a meta-analysis on “Country, Regional, And Global Estimates for Lactose Malabsorption in Adults” published in 2017 in U.S., 36% of the citizens were suffering from lactose intolerance.
