Abstracts

The global diabetic food market is expected to reach USD 11.76 billion by 2025, according to a new report by Grand View Research, Inc. Rising demand for diabetic food in the medical sector is anticipated to fuel the market growth.

Rising health concerns and an uptrend in the occurrence of diabetes among youngsters, and health issues such as obesity, diabetes, and digestive disorders have prompted consumers to opt for such diabetic food solutions. Wide applications of diabetic food in healthcare sector including, insulin and medical food, are expected to positively influence the growth of the market over the forecast period of 2014 to 2025.

The diabetic food industry is governed by various regulations that cover the entire lifecycle ranging from production to end use. Diabetic products used in the healthcare industry need to strictly abide by the stringent U.S. FDA regulations. Health disorders are a result of unhealthy lifestyles such as long working hours, sedentary lifestyle, smoking, poor food habits and alcohol consumption and are anticipated to influence the industry growth over the forecast period.

Further key findings from the report suggest:

The global diabetic food demand was USD 7 billion in 2015 and is estimated to grow at a CAGR of 5.4% from 2016 to 2025

Demand in dairy application is estimated to exceed USD 3 billion by 2025, owing to its probiotic properties

Baked products application segment is estimated to grow at a CAGR of 5.5% over the forecast period owing to the large demand of sugar-free baked products by health conscious consumers

Product demand in Asia Pacific is expected to grow at a significant rate of 6.0% over the next nine years owing to the emerging economies and the growing investment in the medical foods sector

Diabetic food industry in North America is anticipated to exceed USD 4 billion by 2025, owing to the growing medical sector and imbalance in work life and unhealthy lifestyle

Companies such as Coca-Cola Company and PepsiCo Inc. offer raw materials including, dietary syrups, carbon dioxide, sweeteners, and juices, to various industries including, frozen foods, nutritional and functional foods, beverages, medical and processed foods.

Business expansions by companies, such as Mondelez International to establish global research, development & quality (RDQ) network of the future, is anticipated to strengthen the market presence over the coming years
