Abstracts

The global dicalcium phosphate market size was valued at USD 1.2 billion in 2025 and is expected to grow from USD 1.3 billion in 2026 to USD 1.9 billion in 2033, at a CAGR of 6.2% from 2026 to 2033. Asia Pacific dominated the market, accounting for the largest revenue share of 40.4% in 2025. The market growth is supported by the increasing adoption of dicalcium phosphate in animal feed and nutritional applications, particularly to provide essential calcium and phosphorus, support bone development, improve mineral balance, and enhance overall livestock and poultry health and productivity across poultry, swine, cattle, aquaculture, and other animal feed segments.

Rising demand for high-quality animal nutrition and efficient mineral supplementation is driving the adoption of dicalcium phosphate. Dicalcium phosphate is a highly bioavailable source of calcium and phosphorus, essential minerals that support bone development, skeletal strength, growth, and overall animal health. Growing concerns over mineral deficiencies, increasing demand for balanced animal feed, and the need to improve feed efficiency are supporting market growth. The expansion of poultry, swine, cattle, and aquaculture production, along with rising demand for meat, dairy, and other animal-derived products, is further strengthening the use of dicalcium phosphate. Advancements in feed formulations and increasing focus on animal health and productivity are also supporting its adoption across modern livestock and feed systems.
