Abstracts

The global dog boarding services market size was estimated at USD 5.00 billion in 2025 and is projected to reach USD 8.96 billion by 2033, growing at a CAGR of 7.6% from 2026 to 2033. The market is advancing due to the expansion of premium dog care infrastructure, rising franchise investments and scalable business models and growing strategic partnerships and institutional collaboration.

The rapid expansion of modern dog care facilities is a major driver of growth in the dog boarding services market. Premium, purpose-built environments offering cage-free stays, structured play, and wellness-focused care are transforming customer expectations. For instance, in November 2025, K9 Resorts secured a multi-unit agreement with a Chicagoland entrepreneurial group to open eight Illinois locations, expanding its luxury pet boarding footprint and accelerating franchise-driven growth in key U.S. markets. Besides this, larger, hotel-style facilities enable increased boarding capacity, improved hygiene standards, and integrated daycare services, supporting recurring revenue models. In addition, the development of new locations and conversion of commercial spaces into pet care centers is improving geographic accessibility. As pet humanization trends intensify globally, owners increasingly seek safe, comfortable, and experience-driven boarding environments.

In addition, increasing investment from franchisees is accelerating commercialization and structured expansion within the dog boarding services market. Significant capital commitments, highlight strong investor confidence in premium pet hospitality concepts.

Besides this, franchise-driven growth enables standardized service quality, brand consistency, and rapid geographic expansion while reducing operational risk for new entrants. For instance, in January 2026, Skiptown launched franchising to expand its tech-enabled pet care model nationwide, offering daycare, boarding, grooming, and walking services, driven by rising dog ownership and strong demand for premium, personalized pet services. In addition, investment inflows support facility upgrades, advanced care technologies, staff training, and enhanced customer experience offerings. Furthermore, lower construction costs and optimized operational frameworks improve return on investment, encouraging continued franchise participation. These scalable business models are transforming dog boarding from fragmented local services into structured, professionally managed networks.

Furthermore, strategic collaborations between training organizations and institutional bodies are strengthening the ecosystem, supporting dog care and boarding services. Some of the partnerships reflect growing professionalization across canine services. For instance, in July 2025, Commando Kennels partnered with Rashtriya Raksha University to launch a national K9 training school in India, establishing standardized training, research, and deployment frameworks to strengthen the country's working dog ecosystem. These initiatives promote standardized care practices, advanced training methodologies, and structured operational frameworks that influence service quality across the pet care value chain. Besides this, enhanced expertise in canine behavior, health monitoring, and facility management indirectly benefits commercial boarding providers by raising industry benchmarks.
