Hazardous Wastewater Treatment Market Summary

The global hazardous wastewater treatment market size was estimated at USD 21.82 billion in 2025 and is projected to reach USD 26.83 billion by 2033, growing at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 2.7% from 2026 to 2033. The market is primarily driven by stringent environmental regulations governing industrial effluent discharge and hazardous waste management.

Industries such as oil & gas, power generation, automotive, chemicals, and healthcare generate wastewater containing toxic chemicals, heavy metals, oils, and pathogens, which require proper treatment before disposal.

Another major growth driver is the rising industrialization and expansion of manufacturing activities worldwide, particularly in emerging economies. Industries are increasingly adopting physical, chemical, biological, and thermal treatment systems to recycle water, minimize freshwater consumption, and improve operational sustainability. In sectors such as food & beverage, hospitals, and thermal power plants, growing awareness regarding water conservation and circular water management practices is further accelerating demand for hazardous wastewater treatment solutions.
