Abstracts

The global medical device contract sales organizations market size was valued at USD 3.4 billion in 2025 and is projected to grow from USD 3.6 billion in 2026 to USD 5.7 billion by 2033, at a CAGR of 6.9% from 2026 to 2033. North America dominated the market, accounting for the largest revenue share of 40.4% in 2025. The medical device contract sales organizations market is growing owing to increasing outsourcing of commercial activities, rising complexity of healthcare provider and hospital purchasing processes, expansion of medical device portfolios, growing demand for flexible field sales and clinical support teams, and increasing adoption of outsourced market-entry and distribution models.

The growing need to control commercial operating costs while maintaining specialized sales coverage is encouraging medical device manufacturers to engage external commercial partners. The expansion of medical device markets across emerging economies is further creating demand for regional sales teams, distributor management, and localized commercial support.
