Abstracts

The global nonclinical pharmacology and toxicology regulatory consulting outsourcing market size was estimated at USD 0.965 billion in 2025 and is projected to reach USD 2.39 billion by 2033, growing at a CAGR of 12.2% from 2026 to 2033. The market growth is driven by the growing global drug development landscape, increasing drug discovery and development activities by pharmaceutical & biotechnology companies.

In addition, increased demand for expert regulatory guidance during the preclinical stages and stringent regulatory requirements from authorities such as the U.S. FDA and the European Medicines Agency, which require comprehensive safety and pharmacology data before the clinical trials, are other key driving factors contributing to the market growth.

The market for nonclinical pharmacology and toxicology regulatory consulting outsourcing is driven by the growing complexity of biologics and advanced therapies, increasing global regulatory scrutiny and safety mandates, an increase in decentralized trials, and a paradigm shift toward new approach methodologies (NAMs).

In addition, increasing shift from conventional small-molecule drugs to complex biologics and advanced therapeutic modalities is a major factor driving the growth of the global nonclinical pharmacology and toxicology regulatory consulting outsourcing market. The biopharmaceutical pipeline is rapidly expanding, with modalities such as cell and gene therapies, multi-specific antibodies, RNA-based therapeutics, and gene-editing platforms that require highly specialized preclinical evaluation strategies.
