Abstracts

Summary

The Sweden kombucha market size was estimated at USD 32.5 million in 2024 and is projected to reach USD 92.4 million by 2033, growing at a CAGR of 12.3% from 2025 to 2033. The market is driven by changing consumer preferences, increasing demand for functional beverages with probiotic properties, and the perceived health benefits of kombucha.

Kombucha is a fermented tea that gets its flavors and healthy properties from a microbial culture that produces organic acids, B vitamins, and enzymes. There are new emerging brands that offer Swedish consumers seasonal and botanical flavors that offer variety and novelty, such as Just Booch and Kombuchery. Brands releasing new flavors frequently, such as ginger, turmeric, sage-honey, and berry blends, find strong resonance among adventurous, premium-oriented buyers.

Kombucha is emerging as a preferred alternative to sugary sodas and alcoholic beverages. Its probiotic, anti-inflammatory, and detoxifying properties have resonated well with this shift toward functional nutrition. This evolving consumer mindset, combined with local brand innovation and clean-label awareness, is fueling the kombucha category's growth in Sweden.
