Abstracts

The global vacuum food packaging equipment market size was valued at USD 2.5 billion in 2025 and is projected to grow from USD 2.7 billion in 2026 to USD 4.1 billion by 2033, at a CAGR of 6.5% from 2026 to 2033. Asia Pacific dominated the market, accounting for the revenue share of 38.4% in 2025. The market is driven by increasing demand for longer food shelf life.

Vacuum packaging removes air from the package, slowing oxidation and microbial activity that can cause food deterioration. This helps preserve the freshness, quality, and appearance of perishable products during storage and transportation. Meat, seafood, dairy products, and prepared foods particularly benefit from longer storage periods, reducing product losses and supporting demand for vacuum packaging equipment among food processors and retailers.

The growing preference for packaged meals, instant food products, and on-the-go food options is driving the adoption of vacuum packaging machinery across the food industry. These products often require controlled packaging conditions to maintain quality during distribution and storage. Food manufacturers are adopting automated vacuum packaging systems to handle increasing production volumes while maintaining consistent sealing and packaging quality.
