Abstracts

The global Cable Management market was valued at 117.21 Million USD in 2021 and will grow with a CAGR of 12.55% from 2021 to 2027, based on HNY Research newly published report.

The prime objective of this report is to provide the insights on the post COVID-19 impact which will help market players in this field evaluate their business approaches. Also, this report covers market segmentation by major market vendors, types, applications/end users and geography(North America, East Asia, Europe, South Asia, Southeast Asia, Middle East, Africa, Oceania, South America).

Cable management provides power distribution, safety, customization, communication, and low maintenance, which makes it efficient. It also reduces the deployment time of systems, optimizes cable bandwidth, and provides maximum cable density. Service providers construct networks with high bandwidth worldwide, which require efficient fibers as well as strong management structure to support them. The cable management for optical fiber cables provides network reliability, better performance along with bend radius protection, and physical protection. Ongoing developments in infrastructure, telecommunication, and the need for repair and maintenance of the existing technology foster the growth of the cable management market. However, intense competition among the domestic players and fluctuating raw material prices create a gap in standardizing the quality of products. The world is moving towards improved standards of living as the developing economies such as South Africa, India, and Brazil, are going through rapid urbanization. The customers are more brand conscious and tend to get attracted towards quality and specifications. The leading manufacturers have identified potential markets in underdeveloped countries that will expectedly increase the demand for cable management solutions. Various cable management products manufacturing companies are setting up their plants in developing countries such as China, India, Singapore, and others. Prysmian and Nexans have shifted their manufacturing plants to China, where the initial investments and cost of labor are low. In addition, changing standards of living has made people aware about hazardous impacts due to exposed wires & cables such as fire and electric shocks.
