The global Cocoa Beans market was valued at 8800.35 Million USD in 2021 and will grow with a CAGR of 4.27% from 2021 to 2027, based on HNY Research newly published report.

The prime objective of this report is to provide the insights on the post COVID-19 impact which will help market players in this field evaluate their business approaches. Also, this report covers market segmentation by major market vendors, types, applications/end users and geography(North America, East Asia, Europe, South Asia, Southeast Asia, Middle East, Africa, Oceania, South America).

Cocoa bean is a cash crop that is used as a feedstock for the production of cocoa liquor, cocoa butter and cocoa powder, and consequently is primarily used as a raw material for chocolate making wherein cocoa liquor and cocoa butter are its primary ingredients. The vast majority of cocoa beans come from small, family-run farms that often depend on old-fashioned farming practices with limited organizational leverage and they typically travel along a global supply chain, wherein cocoa beans go through a complex production process that comprises farmers, buyers/local agents, shipping organizations, processors, manufacturers, chocolatiers, and distributors. The cocoa beans has captured the attention of consumers from around the world, due to fast growth of chocolate confectionary market. The same is the major factor driving the market growth. Other than chocolate confectionary market factors stimulating the market growth include increasing disposable income among middle class and increasing popularity of cocoa based products like cocoa beverages and cocoa powder. However, the commodity price fluctuation, pest and diseases, low productivity, high dependence on seasons and environmental conditions and high cost of farm inputs are restraining the market growth.
