Meat is a highly perishable product which can undergo microbial growth and breakdown by endogenous enzymes relatively sooner than other food products. This can be curtailed by reducing the temperature which slows down the growth of micro-organisms for which meat products are processed and refrigerated. Frozen processed meat is not fresh meat, can be cured or uncured, and refrigerated to be used for later consumption. Meat is high in nutritional content which has increased the demand for the product globally. The types of frozen processed meat include beef, pork, chicken, mutton, and others.
