The global Serpentinite market was valued at 51.02 Million USD in 2021 and will grow with a CAGR of 6.18% from 2021 to 2027, based on HNY Research newly published report.

The prime objective of this report is to provide the insights on the post COVID-19 impact which will help market players in this field evaluate their business approaches. Also, this report covers market segmentation by major market vendors, types, applications/end users and geography(North America, East Asia, Europe, South Asia, Southeast Asia, Middle East, Africa, Oceania, South America).

Serpentinite is a metamorphic rock that is mostly composed of serpentine group minerals. Serpentine group minerals antigorite, lizardite, and chrysotile are produced by the hydrous alteration of ultramafic rocks. It is widely used in fertilizer, refractory, solvent for metallurgy, building materials etc. In the downstream application of serpentine, fertilizer is its downstream market. Currently, serpentine production is distributed in China, Brazil, New Zealand, and Australia. China is the world's largest producer of serpentine in recent years and will maintain this status in the next few years. Jiacheng, Huixiang, Baoxin, Liangshuo and Panda are the major suppliers of the global serpentine market. We tend to think that this industry is a rising industry, and the growth rate of consumption will show a steady growth curve. According to the economic development, prices have shown a downward trend. In addition, the gross profit margin will also decline.
