Abstracts

MEDICAL TOURISM-top 20 global destinations examines why the top 20 destination countries are where they are today. Global medical tourism is increasing annually. What is changing rapidly is each country's share of the total, and the type of medical tourist they are attracting, It highlights those countries that are or are becoming major destinations, why, and what they are doing to promote their country. This is compiled by an author who has been writing about medical tourism for 15 years.

This report investigates current and potential opportunities for medical tourism by analysing inbound numbers by country, and revenue.

Most medical tourism reports are out of date by the time they are published, so this one works in a new way. Using a global medical tourism database that is updated weekly, the bespoke report is compiled within 5 working days using the latest information available.
