Abstracts

This study covers the latent demand outlook for alarm systems and electric sirens and horns across the states and zip codes of the United States. Latent demand (in millions of U.S. dollars), or potential industry earnings (P.I.E.) estimates are given across some 10,833 zip codes in the United States. For each zip code in question, the percent share the zip code is of its state and of the United States as a whole is reported. These comparative benchmarks allow the reader to quickly gauge a zip code vis-à-vis others. This statistical approach can prove very useful to distribution and/or sales force strategies. Using econometric models which project fundamental economic dynamics within each state and zip code, latent demand estimates are created for alarm systems and electric sirens and horns. This report does not discuss the specific players in the market serving the latent demand, nor specific details at the product level. The study also does not consider short-term cyclicalities that might affect realized sales. The study, therefore, is strategic in nature, taking an aggregate and long-run view, irrespective of the players or products involved.

This study covers alarm systems and electric sirens and horns as defined by the North American Industrial Classification system or NAICS (pronounced "nakes").

The NAICS code for alarm systems and electric sirens and horns is 3342901. It is for this definition that aggregate latent demand estimates are derived. Alarm systems and electric sirens and horns is specifically defined as follows:

3342901 Alarm systems, including electric sirens and horns

33429011 Alarm systems, including electric sirens and horns

33429012 Central station intrusion detection alarm systems

33429013 Chamber type ionization smoke and heat detection alarms

33429014 All other smoke and heat detection alarms, including photo cell type

33429015 Direct connect fire detection and prevention alarm systems

33429016 All other alarm systems
