Abstracts

Despite the global economic recession, the Australian market for dental implants has been resilient in comparison with Asian countries such as Japan and South Korea; as it continued to grow at the fastest rate among Asia-Pacific countries.

This market also covers the following segments in detail:

Root-form dental implants

Non-root form dental implants

Dental implant applications

Mini-implants

Final abutments including

Stock abutments

Custom abutments

CAD/CAM Abutments

The report also segments the dental implant market:

By procedure type

By shape

By connection type

By prosthetic application

By bone grafting

By computer guided surgery

This report provides a comprehensive and detailed analysis of market revenues by device type, market forecasts through 2017, unit sales, average selling prices, market drivers and limiters and a detailed competitive analysis, including manufacturer market shares and product portfolios.
