Abstracts

The Digital Single Market, or DSM is one of the European Commission's (EC) ten priority projects.

This report intends to:

review the European Commission's strategy for the DSM and analyze the debates around the major challenges that this strategic project raises for the European audiovisual sector;

evaluate the potential effects of a change to the European regulatory framework on players in the audiovisual sector value chain;

propose scenarios for possible changes to the regulation of the European audiovisual sector and examine their impacts on the various categories of players concerned
