Coffee and tea capsules are innovative single-serve containers with finely ground ingredients of beverage concentrate deposited in their filter. They contain tea leaves, cocoa beans, and milk powder, which are placed in a vending machine to prepare the drink without adding extra ingredients. They are easy to carry and prepare, take minimal brew time, and minimize degradation of functional ingredients like vitamins, minerals, flavonoids, and antioxidants. They also prevent contamination of tea leaves and coffee grounds and protect the filter from tearing. Besides this, they retain the authentic freshness and flavor of the ingredients longer than their ground equivalents. As a result, coffee and tea capsules are gaining immense traction among individuals and are extensively used in homes and commercial places, such as offices, cafes, hotels, and restaurants in Australia. At present, coffee and tea capsules are available in hazelnut, vanilla, chocolate, lemon, rose, peppermint, hibiscus, and mango flavor.
