Abstracts

The global chondroitin sulfate market size reached US$ 1.5 Billion in 2022. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the market to reach US$ 1.8 Billion by 2028, exhibiting a growth rate (CAGR) of 3.1% during 2022-2028.

Chondroitin sulfate (CS) is a water-soluble polymer comprising alternating N-Acetylgalactosamine and glucuronic acid, which is naturally found in the cartilage, bone and cornea of animals. CS (C₆H₁₃NO₅) is anti-atherogenic, inflammatory, thrombogenic and assists in the performance of coagulant activities. Consequently, it is utilized in oral delivery of insulin, proteins and peptides and as a skin substitute and biomaterial for wound healing in the healthcare sector.

CS acts as a precursor for inhibiting degradation, stimulating synthesis and improving the healing of articular cartilage. This represents one of the primary factors escalating the demand for CS-based injectable hydrogels in cartilage tissue engineering for fabricating purposes. Moreover, as it is an enzymatically biodegradable polysaccharide and has high water solubility and lack of mechanical stability, CS is modified with materials like collagen to be utilized in scaffold matrices and other drug delivery applications. Furthermore, it is being used in dietary supplements for relieving pain and disability of individuals with musculoskeletal pathologies or osteoarthritis. In line with this, CS serves as a template for generating hydroxyapatite nanocrystals, thereby contributing to the market growth. It is also gaining traction as an antistatic agent in the cosmetics industry for manufacturing hair conditioning products.
