Abstracts

The growth of the advertising industry is highly dependent on the penetration of various media platforms. India, with its developing economy, provides numerous opportunities to advertisers to promote their products and services through the expanding media channels in the region. The economic growth has also led to an increase in the spending power of a significant portion of the population, creating an affluent brand conscious consumer-base. As a result, the companies are focusing on creating a strong brand-image for themselves by advertising extensively. IMARC Group's new report titled, "Indian Advertising Market Report & Forecast: 2018-2023", finds that the market reached a value of more than INR 573.5 Billion in 2017, growing at a CAGR of 11% during 2011-2017.

Over the next few years, the Indian advertising market is projected to be the fastest-growing advertising market in Asia, after China. This growth can be attributed to a number of favourable factors. One of the primary factors is the rapid penetration of smartphones and internet in the country which facilitates the use of digital advertising. Increasing population and favourable government regulations are some of the other growth driving factors. According to the report, the market is further expected to reach a value of INR 1102 Billion by 2023.

The report has analysed the market on the basis of segments, covering television, print, radio, internet/online, mobile and outdoor. Among these, print advertising currently accounts for the largest market share, representing the most popular segment.
