Abstracts

The Indian warehouse market size reached INR 1,378.7 Billion in 2023. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the market to reach INR 3,107.5 Billion by 2032, exhibiting a growth rate (CAGR) of 9.2% during 2024-2032. The rising number of government initiatives to expand the contribution of India in global trade, rapid expansion of the e-commerce industry, and the growing demand in the automotive industry due to the increasing purchase of personal cars and electronic vehicles (EVs) represent some of the key factors driving the market.

A warehouse refers to a commercial space or building wherein raw materials or manufactured products are stored until they are distributed to shops for selling or exporting to other countries. It comprises security guards and managers to protect the goods from loss, theft, and damage caused due to unfavorable weather conditions, dust, dirt, and moisture. It also consists of a wide variety of equipment, such as forklifts, conveyors, overhead chain conveyors, pallet lifts, bridge cranes, dock bumpers, yard ramps, and automated guided vehicles (AGVs), to carry goods from one place to another seamlessly. A warehouse can make specific arrangements for various types of commodities or items catering to their nature. It is majorly located in industrial areas, outskirts of cities or secluded rural areas. It stores goods required for seasonal demands, promotional campaigns, and speculative purchases. Apart from this, as a warehouse helps in minimizing losses significantly that are caused by spoilage or wastage, it is extensively used by manufacturers, importers, exporters, and wholesalers across India.

Indian Warehouse Market Trends:

At present, the increasing demand for warehouses in logistics to uplift the value of goods by keeping them fresh and available at the right time represents one of the primary factors influencing the market positively in India. Besides this, the Government of India is undertaking initiatives to expand the contribution of India in global trade and launching the Export-oriented Units (EOU) scheme to boost exporting activities and reduce the trade deficit. In addition, the rapid expansion of the e-commerce industry due to the increasing online shopping activities of individuals is propelling the growth of the market in India. Apart from this, the growing utilization of warehouses for spontaneously packaging, docking, and drawing out products to reduce delivery time is offering a favorable market outlook. Additionally, the rising demand for warehouses in the automotive industry due to the increasing purchase of personal cars and electronic vehicles (EVs) is supporting the market growth in the country. Moreover, key market players are incorporating various value-added services, along with conventional warehousing to optimize supply chain management, generate higher value, and deliver goods efficiently to customers.
