Market Overview 2023-2028:

The global playout automation and channel-in-a-box market size reached US$ 17.2 Billion in 2022. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the market to reach US$ 38.6 Billion by 2028, exhibiting a growth rate (CAGR) of 14.6% during 2023-2028.

The playout automation and channel-in-a-box (CiaB) refers to an integrated playout server solution that is used for broadcasting single or multiple television channels. It also provides a seamless workflow by scheduling and automating on-air shows, inserting branding, logos, 3D characters, overlays, and advertisements before broadcasting it to the audience. This, in turn, streamlines the installation and maintenance of the system, simplifies the acquisition of associated content, and enables the broadcaster to launch new channels with maximum resource optimization. It finds extensive applications in radio and television to manage the quality of content being delivered to the viewers and monitor commercial billing.

Significant growth in the broadcasting industry across the globe is one of the key factors creating a positive outlook for the market. In comparison to the traditionally used systems, modern CiaB systems can automatically combine servers, mixers, routers, and content inserts to produce the desired output. Furthermore, the rapid entry of various small and medium-sized enterprises in the industry, along with the increasing need for high-quality channel presentation, is also providing a boost to the market growth. CiaB offers advanced playout solutions and a high level of customization and integration. Additionally, various technological advancements, such as the utilization of sonic quality and features for an immersive experience, are acting as other growth-inducing factors. Service providers are emphasizing on providing consumers with High-Definition (HD) and Ultra-High-Definition (UHD) content and games. Other factors, including rapid urbanization and increasing expenditure capacities of the consumers, are expected to drive the market further.
