The global premium chocolate market size reached US$ 30.6 Billion in 2022. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the market to reach US$ 50.3 Billion by 2028, exhibiting a growth rate (CAGR) of 8.64% during 2022-2028.

Premium chocolates are made using high-quality fine ingredients with superior craftsmanship. They are widely available in different variants, ranging from dark, milk, and white, with exotic flavors like mint, honey, beer, espresso, blueberry, raspberry, pomegranate, and peanut butter. They can easily be differentiated from their regular counterparts based on their high price, luxury packaging, and rich taste and texture. Nowadays, companies are offering aesthetically-pleasing packages that can be customized according to customer preferences. The increasing consumer inclination towards personalized chocolates is driving the demand for premium chocolates across the globe.

Premium Chocolate Market Trends:

The growing awareness among individuals of the health benefits of chocolates, along with inflating per capita income levels, represents one of the key factors driving the demand for premium chocolates around the world. Chocolate aids in relieving stress, improving memory, controlling anxiety levels, enhancing the ability to focus, and boosting blood circulation to the brain. Moreover, it is utilized as a key ingredient in preparing candies, baked goods, nutritional bars, and beverages. This, in confluence with the rising consumption of packaged food items on account of hectic lifestyles and changing dietary preferences, is contributing to the market growth. Apart from this, the increasing health consciousness among individuals is catalyzing the demand for organic, vegan, sugar-free, and gluten-free variants. Furthermore, leading market players are offering limited-edition premium chocolates fortified with high-quality nuts, grains, and cereals for special occasions, such as Christmas, Diwali, and New Year, via e-commerce channels. This, coupled with the rising awareness of online retailing and associated benefits like free shipping and the availability of attractive discounts, is anticipated to provide lucrative opportunities to market players in the coming years.
