Abstracts

Market Overview:

The global retort packaging market size reached US$ 3.9 Billion in 2022. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the market to reach US$ 5.8 Billion by 2028, exhibiting a growth rate (CAGR) of 7% during 2023-2028.

Retort packaging refers to semi-rigid laminated plastic pouches that are used for sealing and packing various cooked and semi-cooked microwavable food products after their subsequent sterilization. It relies on the thermal food processing technique, wherein sealed pouches are placed under an autoclave machine to heat packages with steam or hot water under pressure. Currently, retort packaging is manufactured by combining the layers of various materials, such as nylon, polyester (PE), aluminum foil, and polypropylene (PP). These coatings are abrasion-resistant, offer optimal strength to pouches and excellent printable surfaces, and protect the product from light gases and odor. Apart from this, retort packaging is lightweight, assists in quickly transferring heat, ensures content sterilization, and extends product shelf life with no preservatives and refrigeration. As a result, retort packaging is utilized to maintain the color, aroma, texture, and taste of food products by maintaining their overall quality.

Retort Packaging Market Trends:

The considerable expansion in the food and beverage (F&B) sector on account of the increasing consumption of various processed, ready-to-eat (RTD) products is majorly driving the market growth. Furthermore, the rising need for lightweight, heat-resistant, laminated plastic packaging solutions in the transportation and warehousing activities to reduce product wastage and shipment costs is acting as another growth-inducing factor. Additionally, the shifting inclination of manufacturers toward retort packaging over conventional metal cans and other packaging solutions, owing to their better surface-to-volume ratio that lowers cooking time, is supporting the market growth. Moreover, the growing usage of e-commerce platforms to purchase consumer goods, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic, has supplemented the demand for retort packaging across the globe. Other factors, such as evolving consumer preferences and strategic collaborations amongst key players to launch retort packaging in cans, pouches, and tray forms with aesthetically appealing designs, are positively augmenting the market growth.
