TURKEY PRIVATE EQUITY MARKET TRENDS:

Tech ? Enabled and Export ? Driven Investments

Turkey private equity market growth is being propelled by investments in technology-led and export-oriented companies. The country's digital readiness and youthful demographic are drawing private equity toward fintech, e-commerce, gaming, and AI-enabled enterprises. With early-stage tech investments totaling over $1.1?billion across 469 deals in 2024, the ecosystem is vibrant and dynamic. Simultaneously, strong performance in automotive and industrial exporting sectors attracts foreign capital seeking scalable assets. Regulatory liberalization and investor-friendly incentives further boost capital inflows. These dual forces, digital innovation and international trade, are transforming Turkey into a compelling regional private equity destination.

Rising Deal Volume and Sector Diversification

Turkey's private equity activity surged in 2024 with disclosed M&A deals reaching $5.3?Billion and an estimated total of $10.1?Billion including undisclosed deals. Deal sizes remain moderate, prompting widespread use of co-investments and syndication across consumer goods, logistics, telecom, and healthcare sectors. The fragmented nature of these industries provides ample consolidation opportunities, enabling PE firms to extract value via operational improvements. Enhanced regulatory clarity and financing options further drive deal momentum. These trends underpin growing geographic and sector diversification, reinforcing Turkey private equity market growth across domestic and regional dimensions.
