Vinyl flooring is made by combining natural and synthetic polymer materials, which are glued together to provide a long-lasting, practical, and economical floor covering. It is versatile, easy to install and highly resistant to water and stains. It is available in various looks, patterns, and colors, such as simulated stone, tile, and wood grain. In addition, it is easy to maintain as it has a resilient protective coating that safeguards vinyl flooring from dirt and scratches. Apart from this, as it is a popular alternative to higher-maintenance floorings like carpet, vinyl flooring finds extensive applications in the healthcare, industrial, residential, hospitality, education, and retail sectors.
