Report Title: Home Delivery Market in India – Drivers, Restraints, Opportunities, Trends, and Forecast up to 2025

The market research report by Infoholic Research includes a detailed segmentation of the home delivery market in India by goods (perishable goods and non-perishable goods), by type (self-delivery, shared delivery, and third-party delivery), and by cities (Delhi, Kolkata, Bangalore, Mumbai, and other cities). Perishable goods are further classified as processed foods (ready to eat) and non-processed foods (fruits, vegetables, and other edibles). Non-perishable goods are further classified as large home appliances (electronics & accessories), small home appliances, cosmetics & toiletries (daily use products), clothing & accessories, books & documents, and others (entertainment & media). The market research report identifies Amazon Transport Services (Amazon), Ekart Logistics, Uber Eats, Swiggy, Zomato, DHL, Blue Dart, FedEx, and Microlise as the major vendors operating in the home delivery market in India.

Overview of the Home Delivery Market in India

According to Infoholic Research, the home delivery market in India will grow at a CAGR of more than 23% during the forecast period 2019–2025. Perishable goods (food and restaurant-related services) accounted for the highest CAGR in the home delivery market in India in 2018. This segment is expected to contribute significantly during the forecast period as well, with an increasing number of start-ups, presence of several established vendors in the market, and growing adoption of home delivery services by consumers. Additionally, the market for home delivery in India is predominantly driven by increasing consumer spending and changing consumer lifestyle. Furthermore, a rise in the number of working women and demographics of India are further boosting the growth of the home delivery market in India.
