Abstracts

The European online information market has experienced one of its busiest years in terms of M&A activity and deals between suppliers while user demand for services and solutions has been at its strongest level for some years.

Now in its seventh year, IRN's annual European Online Information Market (EOIM) report is the only survey dedicated to the European market.

The report includes market sizes, trends, and characteristics for both European online business information and STM markets; specific analysis of UK, French, and German business information and STM information markets; market maps for UK, France, Germany; profiles of leading suppliers with financial data where available and more companies profiled than ever before including a new section on text analytics suppliers; forecasts for 2006 and 2007.
