Abstracts

Metals & Mining Industry in India is an important economic sector which contributes significantly to the economy of India. Constant developmental efforts of government in public and private companies have made Indian Steel Industry stand at 4th position in 2011 among the steel producing nations across globe. The mining sector has been reeling under a toxic mix of high borrowing costs and policy paralysis on the part of the government. Mining projects across the country have stalled because of regulatory, environmental and land acquisition issues.
