Abstracts

The Asia Pacific Asset Performance Management Market would witness market growth of 10.3% CAGR during the forecast period (2019-2025). Asset performance management systems can encourage asset-intensive industry companies to address, various issues related to environmental risks, worker safety risks, higher maintenance and operating costs, and dysfunctional decision making. Increased popularity of digital asset performance management solutions and the future convergence of industrial internet of things (IIoT) and digital twin technology with asset performance management systems have come together. This collective force has improved the overall benefits of asset performance management systems, which has been projected to contribute greatly to market growth over the forecast period. In order to provide equipment efficiency, the advanced asset performance management solutions commercially available have been incorporating IIoT.

Asset Performance Management (APM), through powerful analytics and artificial intelligence, enhances the structure of Enterprise Asset Management (EAM). At the point of action, APM offers guidance to eliminate unplanned repair work, increase the availability of resources, reduce costs, and minimize the risk of breakdown of assets. APM provides a comprehensive view of organizational resources by incorporating various data sources, including EAM record systems and IoT data.
