Abstracts

The Asia Pacific Cereal Bar Market would witness market growth of 6.32% CAGR during the forecast period (2019–2025).

Over the years, cereal bars made of granola and muesli has observed strong growth due to their taste, dietary value, and functionality. Cereal bars infused with organic ingredients, such as dried fruits, are expected to increase demand during the forecast period.

The Asia Pacific accounted for the biggest share of the cereal bar market. Consumers in emerging economies are becoming progressively conscious of the advantages of cereal bar consumption. Expansion in food product distribution networks is also expected to increase the market over the forecast period. The increase in customer expenditure capacity in the region is anticipated to favorably impact growth. For the previous two decades, cereal bar raw materials including corn and rice have evolved commercially with the effective community agreeing mostly that products from the aforementioned raw materials are secure for consumption.
