Abstracts

The Asia Pacific Workplace Stress Management Market would witness market growth of 10.7% CAGR during the forecast period (2019-2025).

Stress causes various physical and mental symptoms which vary depending on the situational factors of each person. These can include both deteriorations in physical health and depression. The stress management process is known as one of the keys to a happy and successful life in modern society. While life offers multiple demands that can prove to be difficult to handle, stress management provides a solution to stress. The stigma surrounding mental disorders such as stress and anxiety are being slowly busted. This has standardized drug consumption and stress relief treatments.

Therefore, the global market for stress management in the workplace is expected to pursue a lucrative path of development in the years ahead. The Medical Fraternity focuses on the development of core segments to address mental health problems.

Organizations periodically review HR-based targets and organizational objectives for efficiency, turnover, and levels of customer complaint, error rates, and health and safety standards in the workplace to keep pace with change. These metrics should be consistent with well-being workplace initiatives like productivity, turnover, levels of stress and mental health issues. Yoga has long been known to provide many mental and physical benefits and is finding its way into the workforce increasingly. Yoga poses and meditation will help to clear this mental clutter away, helping the workers become more alert, concentrated, and efficient. Yoga also enhances the distribution of blood within the brain and increases brain function. In addition, yoga and meditation can teach employees to have a directed, focused mind.
