Abstracts

The Europe Dental Cement Market would witness market growth of 5.9% CAGR during the forecast period (2019-2025). The Europe Dental Cement market is studied across the Germany, UK, France, Russia, Spain, Italy and Rest of Europe. Dental cement is a material which is suitable for various dental applications. Few sorts of cement are used in restoring dental job while the initial dental work is done by other types. Some of them are temporary, others are permanent.

The advent of new formulations has also been recognized as a prominent market growth driver. Dental surgeons worldwide, especially for children, prefer to use Glass Ionomer Cement (GIC). Researchers and manufacturers make efforts to incorporate different kinds of dental cement to meet various patient requirements due to increased dental caries.

It is further estimated that an increase in oral health awareness initiatives worldwide will boost demand. Also, on their websites and blogs, experts and speakers constantly raise awareness of the advantages of oral hygiene and encourage and support oral health.

Oral diseases are by far the most prevalent and life-long non-communicable (NCD) diseases that lead to pain, irritation, disfigurement, and even death. The Global Burden of Disease Study 2016, presented by the World Health Organization, estimated that oral diseases harmed half the world's population (3.58 billion people) with dental caries (tooth decay) in permanent teeth, which is the most prevalent condition investigated. Oral health is linked to diet in many aspects, such as craniofacial nutritional influences, oral cancer, and oral diseases. Dental diseases affect self-esteem and quality of life considerably and are costly to treat. During growth, nutrition affects the teeth and malnutrition must worsen periodontium and oral infection. The local diet action in the mouth on the growth of dental caries and enamel erosion, however, is the most significant effect of food on the teeth.

This market is fragmented by application into cement luting, pulpal protection, restorations, and surgical dressings. In 2018, the segment of Luting held a major share in the market. This can be related to an increase in the number of restorations worldwide and a rise in dental awareness. Furthermore, the wide availability of luting agents also drives growth in the segment.

The report highlights the adoption of Dental Cement in Europe. Based on Material, the market is segmented into Zinc-Oxide Eugenol, Polycarboxylate, Zinc Phosphate, Glass Ionomer, Resin Based and Other Materials. Based on Application, the market is segmented into Pulpal Protection, Luting, Restorations and Surgical Dressing. Based on Category, the market is segmented into Permanent and Temporary.
