Abstracts

The Europe Fabric Protection Market would witness market growth of 4.35% CAGR during the forecast period (2019-2025).

The requirement for fabric protectors in the production of footwear, garments, and accessories is estimated to boost the market's growth in Europe. The growing demand for medical wear with outstanding waterproof, dust repellent, and mechanical properties is likely to increase the demand for the product over the forecast period. Growing medical tourism and escalating investment in European countries' hospitality segment is likely to promote growth.

It is expected that the industry will be driven by a growing market for stain repellent and water-resistant industrial apparel, medical clothing, and upholstery applications worldwide. Product manufacturers concentrate on R&D efforts to substitute fluorinated chemicals in the product with water repellent non-fluorinated finishes. For example, DuPont has produced a fabric protection plant-based, non-fluorinated water repellent finish that is being promoted under the brand name Teflon Ecolite. These manufacturers' efforts to reduce these negative impacts are projected to have a positive impact on the growth of the industry.

Based on Application, the market is segmented into Upholstery, Apparel and Footwear. Based on countries, the market is segmented into Germany, UK, France, Russia, Spain, Italy, and Rest of Europe.
