Abstracts

The Europe Log Management Market would witness market growth of 10.3% CAGR during the forecast period (2019-2025).

Log management is a comprehensive term that encompasses all the activities and processes used to generate, collect, centralize, interpret, distribute, store, archive, and dispose massive volumes of computer-generated log information. Log management tools are used to manage all logs created by applications, systems, networks, software, or users and manage them in any way that best fits a company or organization's needs. Market growth can be associated with the continued evolution of cyber-attacks and the need for network performance control and optimization technologies to handle the dynamic networking environments of today effectively.

Log management vendors support small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) as well as large companies address the protection of business-critical applications to shield them from advanced vulnerabilities. Advanced log management systems allow small and medium-sized companies to record, store, and analyze the logs. The adoption rate for log management solutions is high in large companies and, in the forecast period, is projected to dominate the log management market in terms of market size. Furthermore, because large companies do not have budget constraints, it encourages them to implement on-premise log management solutions.
