Abstracts

The Europe Shaving Foam Market would witness market growth of 3.83% CAGR during the forecast period (2019-2025). Europe provides shaving foam companies with a large amount of growth potential. An increase in the need for shaving foam from the male grooming sector and greater demand for the web retail of shaving foams are pushing the development in the region of the market. Many providers in the region have been urged to deliver shaving foam because the popularity of organic and natural shaving foams among the customers is growing. Also, suppliers in the region are active in expanding their business with M&A operations. These factors stimulate the growth of the shaving foam market across the globe.

Increased competition for shaving foam products in developing economies is expected to boost market growth because of the effect of major competitors like Procter & Gamble Company and Biersedorf AG. Among several other business strategies, product launches and mergers and acquisitions are expected to generate opportunities for the market in the near future. A few initiatives, for example, innovations, advertising, and development efforts by important participants define the industry. For example, in May 2019, Procter and Gamble brands from Schick and Wilkinson razor acquired Harry's Inc. — a manufacturer of razors, shaving creams, and body wash.

Based on Type, the market is segmented into Organic Shaving Foam and Conventional Shaving Foam. Based on Distribution Channel, the market is segmented into Offline and Online. Based on countries, the market is segmented into Germany, UK, France, Russia, Spain, Italy, and Rest of Europe.
