Abstracts

The Global Autoimmune Disease Therapeutics Market size is expected to reach $149.4 billion by 2025, rising at a market growth of 4.34% CAGR during the forecast period.

The autoimmune disease therapeutics market is anticipated to experience significant market growth during the forecast period due to early diagnosis of the disease, the latest launch of advanced therapy, and increased incidence of autoimmune disease. The market is witnessing a strong presence of late-stage pipeline drugs such as tocilizumab, baricitinib, olokizumab, apremilast, abatacept, PF-06438179, golimumab, ustekinumab, etrolizumab, tofacitinib, and others. On the other hand, higher costs associated with sophisticated therapy are anticipated to hamper the market growth.

Autoimmune diseases happen when an individual's body's immune system treats and attacks healthy cells of his/her own body as foreign cells. These diseases trigger differences in the functioning of the organ, abnormal organ growth, and destruction of healthy body tissues. Autoimmune diseases are usually chronic and there's no curative treatment for them. Dermatomyositis, Hashimoto's disease of type 1 diabetes, Sjogren's syndrome, Psoriasis are some examples of autoimmune diseases. Systemic treatment of autoimmune diseases and localized treatment of autoimmune disease are two kinds of treatments for autoimmune disease.
