Abstracts

The Global Mass Notification Systems Market size is expected to reach $18.3 billion by 2025, rising at a market growth of 17.6% CAGR during the forecast period. North America and Europe are currently the main areas where mass notification systems have been adopted. The main factors that drive market growth in these areas are wide propagation of mobile technology, pioneering technology development and adoption, and the existence of significant enterprises in this region.

Mass notification systems (MNS) help users to transmit notifications to groups or individuals like employees, customers, citizens, and government officials. These systems help in keeping everyone notified before/during/ after a disaster or certain event. MNSs are really helpful in coordinating with the masses during rescue and relief operations. The systems enable robust analytics, flexible group management, distributed contact data, language localization, several options for contact data management, also a standardized method for optimizing voice and SMS routing.

Mass notification systems include a database of phone numbers, names, email addresses, and delivery methods. Emergency notification software has a functional communication infrastructure with sufficient bandwidth to send multiple messages. Individuals and enterprises are contacted through text messages, prerecorded phone calls, emails, and social media. Human response helps in activating the MNS; this is similar to devices like smoke or gas detectors and task-specific systems for security. The proliferation of this market is influenced by the increasing concern for public safety and security and the accelerating adoption of Internet Protocol (IP)-based notification devices.

Based on Component, the market is segmented into Hardware and Software & Services. Based on Solution Type, the market is segmented into In-Building Solutions, Wide-Area Solutions and Distributed Recipient Solutions. Based on Organization Size, the market is segmented into Large Enterprises and Small & Medium-Sized Enterprises. Based on Deployment Type, the market is segmented into On Premise and Cloud.
