Abstracts

The Global Organic Snacks Market size is expected to reach $23.7 billion by 2025, rising at a market growth of 14.09% CAGR during the forecast period.

The organic snack foods are packaged and made to be portable, nutritious, healthy, and satisfying by the taste. The rapid market growth of organic snacks can be largely attributed to the increasing health awareness among the people. The young population is now more cautious while consuming organic foods that are beneficial for the body. This cautious behavior is rising because of the use of pesticides, GMOs, and chemicals in the food harvest. Reason being, it raises health concerns, and since consumers in emerging economies have higher spending power, people become more selective about what they consume as food. This trend has further led to the escalating adoption of organic snacks and has observed an extensive acceptance of organic snacks across the metropolitan cities and tier 2 and tier 3 cities.

The young population is now more cautious while consuming organic foods that are beneficial for the body.
