Abstracts

The Latin America, Middle East and Africa Level Sensor Market would witness market growth of 8.6% CAGR during the forecast period (2019-2025).

Digital level sensors are used for gas flow measurement systems and can be conveniently interfaced with computers. The growing use of non-contact-type Micro-Electro-Mechanical Systems (MEMS) systems in residential, commercial and industrial measurement applications are also expected to increase market demand. The accelerated demand for smart instruments equipped with microprocessors that provide data on the performance of the instrument is anticipated to boost the market growth. The ability to deliver higher accuracy and performance, along with easy installation and maintenance, are expected to collectively drive the market growth. The high acceptance rate of smart multi-phase sensors in the oil & gas and food & water industries has led to increased growth.

Detection of the levels of free flow material, whether solid or liquid, appears to be a key part of industrial ecosystem operations. This is where 'level sensing' or 'level detection' enters the equation, where level sensors play a vital role. The level sensor technology has experienced widespread use for over two decades in multiple applications such as oil & gas, food & beverage, waste and wastewater treatment, pharmaceutical, as well as other applications for successful leak recognition or faultless level capacity analysis.

Based on Technology, the market is segmented into Contact Level Sensor and Noncontact Level Sensor. Contact Level Sensors are further sub divided into Guided Wave, Magnetostrictive, Hydrostatic, Magnetic & Mechanical Float, Pneumatic and Others. Non-Contact Level Sensors market is further bifurcated into Ultrasonic, Microwave/Radar and Others. Based on Monitoring Type, the market is segmented into Continuous Level Monitoring and Point Level Monitoring. Based on End User, the market is segmented into Industrial Manufacturing, Oil & Gas, Wastewater, Chemical & Pharmaceuticals, Consumer and Others. Based on countries, the market is segmented into Brazil, Argentina, UAE, Saudi Arabia, South Africa, Nigeria, and Rest of LAMEA.
