Abstracts

The North America Behavioral Biometrics Market would witness market growth of 21.7% CAGR during the forecast period (2020-2026).

Behavioral biometrics is one of the evolving modalities in the landscape of biometric that emphasizes continuous and dynamic authentication models. This technology complements an additional and a constant layer of authentication as a key element of its inclusive multi-factor authentication strategy. Behavioral biometrics solution has made its way into the authentication of users in different organizations. Therefore, it finds its application in online banking, mobile security, enterprise security, and other sectors. Improvement of the IoT landscape, increase in the number of online transactions, and surge in the necessity for improved security owing to data security threats are some of the factors that are driving the growth of the behavioural biometrics market. The global market is divided with the presence of prominent market vendors that constitute a larger share of the market.

The increasing usage of smartphones on a day-to-day basis for the purpose of entertainment, socializing, and work are continuously increasing the number of mobile applications for the delivery of these services. The successive increase in the usage of mobile applications and the rising exchange of data over the web is also leading to numerous privacy and security concerns. Though, traditional authentication techniques like passwords and unlock patterns prove to be mostly ineffective when it comes to some advanced privacy and security threats. The trend is leading to the increased popularity of more advanced techniques like continuous authentication that is based on behavioral biometrics.
