Abstracts

The North America Warehouse Order Picking Market would witness market growth of 8.9% CAGR during the forecast period (2019-2025). RFID readers, barcode scanners, and other handheld devices are used by retailers around the globe to optimize shipping and inventory management. The growing e-commerce industry is expected to further improve warehouse role, like value-added services, packaging, and customer services. It is expected that automating a warehouse would ensure consistency in the workplace. The increasing need to automate logistics processes has resulted in the dependency of robot vendors on technology to increase the efficiency of the solution and ensure smooth operation. Both software and hardware systems communicate with each other in a smart warehouse.

A sharp rise in warehouse management software applications is the warehouse control system, which uses various applications to optimize the production. The industry's top players use the technology to reduce labor costs and improve precision, like pick/put to light and voice-directed picking. High initial investments are projected to narrow the demand for warehouse automation, but automation is expected to minimize traditional warehousing costs including staffing costs, battery recharging, and routine mechanical and electrical maintenance expenses.

Based on Solution, the market is segmented into Barcode scanning/ RFID picking, Paper-based and Others. Based on Deployment Type, the market is segmented into On-premise and Hosted. Based on Vertical, the market is segmented into Manufacturing, Retail, Transportation & Logistics, E-commerce, Healthcare, Pharma & Cosmetics, Construction and Others. Based on countries, the market is segmented into U.S., Mexico, Canada, and Rest of North America.
