Abstracts

Global Caps and Closures Market is projected to grow from US$40.308 billion in 2015 to US$56.128 billion by 2021, at a compound annual growth rate of 5.67%. Caps and closures are an integral part of packaging products. They help in keeping the products safe from external contamination and improve the shelf-life of the products. This has led to increased demand for these products from industries across food and beverage, chemicals, pharmaceuticals among others. Developing economies of China, India and Brazil will witness high demand over the forecast period, while the North America region will continue to be a major market for caps and closures. Plastic will remain the dominant raw material for the production of caps & closures. Whereas other raw materials like rubber will witness the maximum growth during the forecast period.
