Abstracts

The consumer water treatment systems market was valued at US$8.028 billion in 2018 and is anticipated to grow at a CAGR of 6.06% to reach a market size of US$11.426 billion by 2024. The demand for consumer water treatment systems will grow due to the sales of the home water treatment systems. This is further driven by the rising awareness regarding water contamination coupled with consumer education related to water treatment technologies. In the developed regions where high-quality water is available, the sale of the consumer water treatment systems is quite high in order to improve the aesthetic issues like the taste and water smell.

The Consumer Water Treatment Systems Market – Forecasts from 2019 to 2024 is an exhaustive study that aims to present the key market trends through various chapters focusing on different aspects of the market. The study provides a detailed market overview through the market dynamics sections which detail key market, drivers, restraints, and opportunities in the current market. The report analyzes key opportunity regional markets, and the current technology penetration through lifecycle analysis. The report also analyzes the market through comprehensive market segmentation by type, by water treatment systems/processes, and by geography.

The consumer water treatment systems market has been segmented based on type, water treatment systems/processes, and geography. Based on type, the market has been segmented into point-of-use and point-of-entry. On the basis of water treatment systems/processes, the market has been segmented into filtration systems, water softeners, distillation systems, and disinfection.

Regional analysis has been provided with detailed analysis and forecast for the period 2018 to 2024. The global market has been broken down into North America, South America, Europe, Middle East and Africa (MEA), and the Asia Pacific regions. The report also analyzes 15 major countries across these regions with thorough analysis and forecast along with prevailing market trends and opportunities which each of these countries present for the manufacturers.
