In this report, LP Information studies the present scenario (with the base year being 2017) and the growth prospects of global Brand Management Software market for 2018-2023.

Brand management software is a software used for managing brand assets like social media contents, websites, trade show materials, press releases, blogs, sales presentations, advertisements, print media, direct mailings, images, and marketing communications. Brand management software is a software for managing brand assets. The software includes several features for data management and organization of brand assets.

One of the major drivers for this market is Need for protecting brand identity. For maintaining the sustainability of a brand, it is essential that the company maintains and communicates a visual identity through several channels. The visual identity, which includes fonts and logos, should be updated consistently. This must be done with complete awareness regarding brand history and vision by involving all relevant employees in the process. In addition, any change made in visual identity should be reflected in all the subsequent works of the company.

The Americas is estimated to be the major revenue contributor to the brand management software market due to the influential presence of US that contains the largest companies and consultants that are increasingly demanding the software. The implementation of brand management software aids to increase brand integrity and productivity, and decreases expenses. Additionally it also optimizes campaigns using the search and analytics functionality by tracking the contents users view.

Over the next five years, LPI(LP Information) projects that Brand Management Software will register a xx% CAGR in terms of revenue, reach US$ xx million by 2023, from US$ xx million in 2017.
