Abstracts

The report requires updating with new data and is sent in 48 hours after order is placed.

In this report, LP Information studies the present scenario (with the base year being 2017) and the growth prospects of global Inkjet Packaging and Labeling market for 2018-2023.

Most inkjet label printing is on narrow web presses, printing high-quality, self-adhesive prime labels. The acceptance of UV inkjet systems has grown in 2014 and 2015, as quality and reliability has improved, with higher productivity than competing toner-based systems.

In inkjet, there is a significant amount of wide-format print and cut, while there is some proofing and prototyping. There is overprinting by inkjet and mono electrophotography. Additionally there is a small proportion printed on low-cost laser toner systems, including some cut-sheet on pre-diecut stocks. Wide-format inkjet is used to print very large labels that do not fit on narrow web presses, or to print metallic or fluorescent inks. While not a very high productivity solution, a low-cost wide-format printer can provide great flexibility to deliver small quantities very quickly.

Over the next five years, LPI(LP Information) projects that Inkjet Packaging and Labeling will register a xx% CAGR in terms of revenue, reach US$ xx million by 2023, from US$ xx million in 2017.
